"Since its beginning The Hands and Feet Project has had the honor to cross paths with brilliant people and become a part of some amazing stories in this world. Madyson Williams is no exception. Madyson serves as an ambassador for The Hands and Feet Project, along with Haiti Made and we are so excited to announce her upcoming tour!

Madyson has interned with us in Haiti in the past and spent time with the team in the US office. She has a heart to encourage and challenge believers through worship, conversation, and community. Over the past few months, Madyson has been working hard on some new music and plans to release in May! She'll be hitting the road this summer to bring mission-focused, acoustic worship experiences to churches. We're honored that Madyson is using her platform to not only to share her passion for Jesus, but also to tell the story of The Hands and Feet Project!" - The Hands and Feet Project (founded by Christian band Audio Adrenaline)
